—A young German named Chris Wel-gel, who died at the hospital on Satur-day, was buried yesterday. Deceased was a member of the "Deutcher Bruder Bund," and the brethren of that assocition turned out in large numbers to pay the last mark of respect to his remains. The funeral cortege which was headed with Arnold's Band, playing a funeral dirge, while passing the railroad crossing at the corner of Hernando and Beal treets, the wheels of the hearse came into contact with the rails, and one of the rear wheels was smashed to pieces. The procession was brought to a stand-still, and remained at that point till another hearse was procured, to which the coffin was transferred, and then proceeded to Elmwood Cemetery. Mr. Weigel, although a very quiet young man, while seting as a bar-keeper, at a ball on Christmas Eve got into an altereation with a barber named Henry Wexter and struck him over the head with a beer glass, inflicting such serious injuries that Wexter died a few days afterward. Before his death he declared that he did not believe that Weigel intended to injure him. Weigel was arrested on a charge of manslaughter, and admitted to ball. A short time since he was tried on the same charge and acquitted. He was highly respected by all his acquaintances and friends.

evening a fire broke out in the grocery-store of Messrs. B. Frank & Son, at the corner of Third and Jefferson streets. The fire was first discovered by Mrs. Henry Farmer, whose husband is the owner of a laundry adjoining the store. It had by this time gained considerable headway, as the flames were bursting through the windows and doors. THE ALARM was promptly given, and in an in-credibly short space of time an redibly short space of time an engine was at the scene of the conflagration, and soon had a pow-erful stream of water bearing on making a landing at the elevator to the burning building. Grand Operahouse. To-night Mr. Dominick Murray, a gentleman of rare histrionic ability, and most conscientious and talented artist, will commence an engagement at the Grand Operahouse, in his new, thrilling, sensational drama of Escaped from Sing Sing. Mr. Murray is a great favorite with all the lovers of natural acting and life-like delineation of character, and these are certainly characteristics which he possesses to a very great degree. He is true to nature because she has been profuse to him with her gifts. He the rare ability of so completely identi-fying himself with the characters he portrays, that his audience is ever ready to acknowledge his extraordinary pow-ers. The piece in which he will open, the title of which is given above, was written by Mr. Charles Barras, the au-thor of The Black Crook plot, and is full of thrilling situations, and pictures most strikingly the terrible stratagems to which an escaped convict has to resort to keep out of the meshes of the police when a thousand dollars are of-fered for his recapture. In this drama he appears in four different characters or ises, all diversified, and giving Mr. Murray room and verge enough to bring his splendid versatile power into full play. Both on and off the stage Mr. Murray is a highly-cultivated gentle-man, and, as he has a host of friends in Memphis, he is certain to attract fine audiences during his engagement. Memphis Theater.

Cal Wagner and his popular band of Ethiopian delineators, will commence an engagement at the Memphis Theater to-night, under the management of Mr. John H. Haverly. This troupe visited Memphis about three months ago, and drew very large audiences for an entire week. Since that time the troupe has een augmented, the new prima donna, Mr. Hayward, being one of the princi-pal additions. His voice is a most remarkable one. All the old favorites-Frith, Booker, Price, the Welling Brothers, Canfield and Sam Brown—are COLONEL SAM. MEEK, one of the Diof fun and minstrelsy.

"HAPPY CAL WAGNER" and his tal-ented troupe of minstrels arrived at the ater on Thursday and Friday evenings. His first subject will be the world-wide one of "Love," which will be in the form of a humorous poem, in which he will delineate all the phases of the grand passion, from the sublime to the ridiculous. This is the first visit of the talented grave joker to Memphis, but he will find on his arrival that his fame and his works have preceded him, and that he will receive a general kindly welcome from our citizens. It is superfluous to add that he will be greeted by large, inellectual and appreciative audie There will be no reserved seats.
